2017 Global Platform for Disaster Risk Reduction

22-26 mayo 2017 - Cancún, México

The Global Platform for Disaster Risk Reduction (Global Platform), as recognized by the UN General Assembly, is the main forum at the global level for strategic advice, coordination, partnership development and the review of progress in the implementation of international instruments on disaster risk reduction. It was established in 2006 and is now the world's foremost gathering of stakeholders committed to reducing disaster risk and building the resilience of communities and nations.

Join the Team and be part!

Elegibility

-Be a regular student from the UPY with an administrative status in OK.
-Have a language profiency in english at level B1 according to the CELF.
-Have not failed any subject.
-Have an idea of how can help to building the resilience of communities and nations and which could be their role.

Benefits

-Access to the Global Platform
-Be part of the Official Staff as a UNDP volunteer.
-Participate in some conferences
-Accommodation
-Some meals
-Round trip transportation

Activities to do

Be part of the UN information team, to give general information about the UN agencies projects' in Mexico, support UN staff in ICT and other tasks, give English language assistance to Mexican local UN counterparts.

Call closes on 3rd MAY

PNUD

Al servicio de las personas y las naciones

UNISDR

In support of the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction 2015 - 2030

www.upy.edu.mx/convocatorias

UNIVERSIDAD POLITÉCNICA DE YUCATÁN   BIS Universities